

MINDA LEE INTERVIEW

Minda Lee is a transformational coach, dream builder, consultant, and real estate investor. She's also an internet marketer and founder of MindPower who now works from her home in New Zealand. This mother of two gets to set her own hours and live an authentic lifestyle while becoming the person she truly wants to be.

BUT it had not always been this way for Minda – far from it.

She grew up in South Africa, earned degrees in psychology and philosophy and continued to earn a master's in clinical Psychology. Specializing in criminal psychology, Minda practiced for fifteen years and earned a six-figure salary – holding a position of power in middle management in an organization with a challenging clientele. However, a career incident and lifestyle choice set off an entrepreneurial journey which lead her on a path of expanding her consciousness.

Though Minda was in the business of changing people's lives, she had somehow shut her eyes to the circumstances of her own life, which desperately needed transformation. Like many people around the world today, Minda was scared to admit the fact that she was comfortable – even though she knew she was living a limiting and unfulfilling lifestyle. But reality is always accommodating to inconsistencies in our lives. Her world came crushing down when she, the psychologist, was diagnosed as clinically depressed. It was this and other gripping fears that caused Minda to make a promise that things were going to get better – even if part of her didn't fully believe it (yet).

The internet is allowing Minda to now live out her passion and become an advocate of not giving in to undesirable circumstances that you don't agree with. She seeks to help individuals and companies set worthy goals that allow them to expand and create bigger and better results for themselves. MindPower was founded to teach, inspire, and assist those who desire to broaden their consciousness and gain greater levels of awareness and understanding. Its purpose is to assist others to get from where they are to where they want to go through implementing the higher faculties of the mind and harnessing universal power.

Many people genuinely desire transformation in their life – whether that means to be financially stable, wake up healthy and enthused each day, or to attract more positive and supportive people. Their reality however, seems to be completely opposite to what they truly desire. If that's the case for you, then connect with Minda Lee at www.MindPowerBiz.com and go to www.MonetizeYourSkills.com/Minda to listen to my interview with her and learn how she was able to create alignment in her work and calling.